POLICE MAKE REAL HAUL OF BOOTLEGGERS

Quintet of Winchester Negroes Caught Here With 25 Gallons of Moonshine

The biggest capture of moonshine whisky and bootleggers recorded in police circles here in a long time, was made about 8 o'clock Monday night by Officers Wade Golden, Jack Hardin, Jas. Turner and Chief Devore, when they nabbed five negroes from Winchester in a Ford car with about 25 gallons of liquor.

The car came speeding down East Main street at 8 o'clock. The first named three officers were near the corner of B and East Main street and saw the car coming with only one light burning. They stopped the machine and when they did so noticed a glass jar of what seemed to be whisky sitting on the front seat between the driver, a young colored man, and a colored woman. Further examination showed that the car was practically "loaded to the guards" with moonshine in jugs, jars in sacks and bottles. The officers found three pistols, two automatics and a revolver, on the back seat. They took charge of the party immediately and locked them up. The four men gave their names as William McDonald, Jim Romes, James Skinner and Walter Perkins. The woman was registered as Ada Wilson.

In police court Tuesday afternoon Judge G. Murray Smith held all five to await action of the grand jury under $500 bond each. At the same time, Jesse Owens, who said he was a partner with Dave Haggard, colored undertaker, of Winchester, in a garage, was fined $10 and given 10 hours in jail for contempt of court. When the woman was on the stand testifying, Chief of Police Claude Devore called attention of Judge Smith to Owens, who was sitting in the audience, and the chief said, "I was shaking his head at the woman as she made her answers to the questions put to her by prosecutor I. P. Chennault. Hers was the only case tried out by Attorney R. C. Odham representing the defendants. The woman claimed that she had merely been picked up by the men and asked to take a ride with them, and that she did not know they were going after whisky nor was any of it hers. She said that she sat in the car while the men got out and brought the whisky in."

The arresting officers testified that Monday night when they were taken in charge the men all denied ownership of the liquor. Officer Turner testified that the young driver of the car told him that both the car and the whisky belonged to Dave Haggard. The license number on the rear of the car was 38006.

Owens, who was put on the stand, said that when he heard Perkins had taken the car to Richmond, he came here Tuesday morning looking for him and found him in jail. He said that he was a partner with Haggard in this and several other cars. He said he rented the car to the boy driving it for a percentage of the profits and did not know where he went or what he did with the car. He claimed that the ferryman at the river crossing at Boonesboro knew his car well. Owens denied he had shaken his head at the Wilson woman, and when he was being taken away to jail on the contempt charge, wanted his attorney to take his case to the Court of Appeals.

The Perkins boy and the woman both said they did not know where the crowd went to get the whisky. They said that the other boys seemed to know the way; that they went through Richmond and turned to the right near the depot, and then went on out seven or eight miles and turned off on a dirt road. The men got out of the car and went out to a field or woods where two white men met them. The white men had the whisky covered up with leaves and brush in self-sealer jars.

The driver, Perkins, said that the men with him had brought jugs from Winchester. He said they poured the liquor out of the jars into the jugs and then the men carried it to the car. He saw some of his crowd play with the white men, but didn't know how much, he said.

After the trials in police court, which had been attended by U. S. Commissioner Warfield Bennett, Federal Prohibition Officers J. D. W. Collins and Joseph Murphy, of the Lexington office, arrived, and poured out the 25 gallons of moonshine into a gutter in front of the city hall. The sight was witnessed by a large crowd. One thirsty fellow caught a pop bottle full about half a block down Irvine street. Mr. Collins then took charge of the case and brought out the Perkins boy and interrogated him thoroughly. Perkins denied that he had said that Dave Haggard owned any of the whisky. Acting on what Patrolman Turner said the boy told him when the arrests were made, Judge Smith issued warrants for both Haggard and Owens, owners of the car. A local officer was sent to Winchester to bring Haggard over here or take a $500 bond there for his appearance here in court Friday night.

Many compliments were heard about the good work of the local officers in putting over such a wholesale capture. Chief Devore says that he has noticed the Perkins boy driving through town a number of times, and has had him pointed out to him, but that he never had anything on him before.

IRISH FREE STATE COMES INTO BEING

Age-Old Conflict With Britain Finally Settled and Erin Takes As Canada

(By Associated Press) Birmingham, England, Dec. 6.—Ireland hereafter will be known officially as the "Irish Free State," under last night's London agreement, Lord Chancellor Birkenhead announced in a public address here today. He said Ireland will be in precisely the same position as Canada.

(By Associated Press) London, Dec. 6.—The British cabinet today unanimously approved the Irish settlement plans.

(By Associated Press) London, Dec. 6.—England and Ireland awoke from their troubled sleep today to joyously learn that the English and Irish conferees had reached an unexpected agreement early today on the Irish question.

Negotiations between the leaders of the Sinn Fein and Ulster elements in Ireland and the British government were started on June 15, 1921—three days after King George's appeal for peace at the opening of the Ulster parliament in Belfast—when Premier Lloyd George invited Eamonn de Valera and Sir James Craig the Ulster premier, to confer with him in London. De Valera accepted the invitation on July 8 and thereupon a truce was agreed to, taking effect July 11.

RICHMOND TO CLOSE FOR FINAL DRIVE

Banks and Business Houses To Show Their Interest In Success of Pool

The wheels of industry will stop in Richmond Wednesday and practically all business houses will remain closed while the final drive to sign up the tobacco of Madison in the Burley Association is in progress.

All four banks in Richmond will also be closed during the day. The local banks are in complete sympathy with the burley association movement, and win be strong backers of the growers when the time comes to need money for advancement on their crops. The most of the local business houses feel in sympathy with the movement also and many have signed a pledge to remain closed to show their interest in the great movement, which so many believe will prove of lasting benefit to the farmers of Kentucky and the entire tobacco producing region.

Chairman T. S. Hagan and his local teams of special workers in the final drive, will be assisted by prominent farmers from other counties. A large number of growers who were in town Monday and had not previously signed, attached their names to contracts. Madison has been a little slow about sticking along with her sister blue grass counties in this big movement, but the workers for the association believe that she is at last going to take her rightful place with them.

Dr. Fortune to Succeed Spencer

Lexington, Dec. 6.—Dr. A. W. Fortune, dean of the College of the Bible, an adjunct of Transylvania College here, today resigned, effective February 1. Dr. Fortune will become pastor of the Central Christian church January 1, succeeding the Rev. I. J. Spencer, who retires then with the title of pastor emeritus.

NO CLEW YET TO WELLS' ASSAILANT

Victim Is Recovering From Dangerous Wounds—Several Saw Mystery Car

Except for the fact that a number of local men believe they saw the mystery car in which P. W. Wells was abducted from his home at College Hill Friday night by three unknown men, and the remarkable recovery that Mr. Wells seems to be making from his injuries, there have been no developments in the mysterious affair which has set all of Madison county agog.

County Road Engineer J. G. Baxter was returning home from beyond the College Hill section shortly after six o'clock Friday evening, when he noticed a large touring car standing near the bridge near Mr. C. L. Searcy's home near Waco. Two men were on the bridge at the time, apparently loading, with nothing to do. Mr. Baxter said he thought at first the car was in trouble, but as the two men on the bridge did not seem concerned about it, he did not stop. He thought the car was either a large Hudson or a Stutz.

Con Taylor, of that section of the county, also saw the strange car and identified it about as Judge Baxter did. Several others in that section saw the car speeding very fast along the road.

Police Judge G. Murray Smith thinks that he saw the car as it came through town at the time the three men had Wells with them as a prisoner. Judge Smith believes he would be able to identify one of the men should he see him again. The car was proceeding at a rapid rate of speed, with all curtains closed, and who saw the car testify to its exceptionally brilliant lights. Several said that was a large spotlight at the left of the driver. The car evidently did not stop in town, but drove straight on through with Wells, who was barely conscious at this stage of the proceedings as a result of the fearful mauling he had received with the butt of a pistol when the men dragged him in the car at College Hill.

Sheriff Whitlock and Deputy Sheriff Sant Bush conferred with Fayette county officers at Lexington, but no clew has yet been found to the identity of the three men. Mrs. Sammie McCreary returned to her home in Lexington at the same time the officers went over. She says she is wholly mystified at the attack and the use of her name.

Relatives of Mr. Wells seem to think that the near-murderer wanted to get Mr. Wells' hand-some diamond ring and that this was the cause of the attack. They suspect that he was seen with it in Lexington and followed over here when he returned home.

The measure, which would provide a manufacturer's tax of 20 cents a gallon on beer and 40 cents a gallon on wine, was referred to the Ways and Means Committee.

GROWERS RUSHING TO JOIN ASSOCIATION

Taking Over Madison House Here Pleases Association Leaders At Lexington

Burley tobacco growers to the number of several hundred are with the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association believed to have signed contracts Monday in many counties of Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, and West Virginia, in which state Clifton Rodes is conducting a campaign for signatures to the association, judging from reports coming to Organization Manager Jos. Passomont from the field, said Monday's Lexington Herald.

Mr. Passomont said last night that the reports indicated that growers who had remained outside until the association had proven a success in point of numbers and tobacco signed appeared to be eager to get into the organization now and that before the close of the books Saturday next at midnight he believed that 95 per cent of the growers of the entire burley district would be in the organization.

The taking over of a warehouse at Richmond yesterday by friends of the association was extremely gratifying to Mr. Passomont. The majority of the directors of this warehouse were friendly to the association but an officer or two insisted upon opening it for burley sales of December 15th. These men were given an offer for their stock and accepted it.

Of the 130 loose leaf warehouses in the district 126 now are reported to be friendly to the association, and will not open for burley sales until the organization is permanently formed, has elected its directors and officers and is ready for business.

Chairman Ralph M. Barker, of the warehouse committee, says his committee has been at work on an equitable basis of valuation of warehouse property all over the district and hopes to have within the next few days to submit a proposition to the warehousemen.

Mr. Barker said that in its two day meeting, the committee had consulted experts from Louisville, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Chicago and Milwaukee, that it had been working on a valuation and appraisal plan that would be of general application and fair to the warehousemen as well as to the association.

"We have found the warehousemen of the district, as a whole, not only willing to remain closed," said Mr. Barker, "but working with us in the interest of the growers of the entire burley belt. The committee has been doing everything in its power to obtain fair and accurate appraisals of each piece of property it is proposed to take over, and I have no doubt that an arrangement will be made that will be absolutely fair and satisfactory to all persons interested."

Merchant Shoots Waitress

Middlesboro, Dec. 6.—W. B. Lewis, 30, merchant of Four Mile shot and killed Maude Wilson, 28, a waitress, of Pineville, in an automobile between Middlesboro and Pineville Sunday afternoon, according to a verdict returned by the coroner's jury last night. It is alleged that Lewis placed an automatic revolver to the temple of the woman and fired one shot. Miss Wilson was driving at the time, it is said, and the car turned over. Lewis claimed that the woman was killed when the revolver was discharged accidentally.

Oklahoman Praises Black-Draught, Having Used It "Can Safely Say for 50 Years."

Grandfield, Okla.—One of the best known farmers of Tillman County, Mr. G. W. Tisdale, who owns and manages a wagon yard here, says:

"I have used Theodor's Black-Draught—I believe I can safely say for fifty years."

"I was born and reared in Texas, Freestone County, six-four years ago. I have been married forty-four years. My father used Black-Draught before I was married, and gave it to us."

"For forty-four years of my married life, it has had a place on our medicine shelf, and is the only laxative, or liver medicine, we use. We use it for torpid liver, sour stomach, headache, indigestion. I don't think we could get along without it, knowing what it has done for us, and the money it has saved. It is just as good and reliable today as it was when we began its use. My boys use it and they are satisfied it's the best liver medicine they have ever used."

Theodor's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, not disagreeable to take and acts in a prompt and natural way. So many thousands of persons have been benefited by the use of Theodor's Black-Draught, you should have no hesitancy in trying this valuable old well-established remedy, for most liver and stomach disorders. LITTLE THEATRE CLUB AUSPICIOUS OPENING

The Little Theatre Club of the Normal School, under the direction of Miss Miller, scored a decided success Monday night in its presentation of three one-act plays, "Embers," "Spreading the News," and "Maker of Dreams," in the Normal chapel. The plays were enacted before a well-packed house and the two fold object of the members was fully realized that of affording an evening of artistic entertainment and of starting a Student Loan Fund for the students of the school who may find it necessary to seek some little help to carry them thru the rough days of the time that they may wish to spend here in school.

The plays were directed by Miss Miller of the Expression Department, assisted by Henry Arnold, as business manager; Earl Combs, Leslie Evans and Wm. Crutcher, as stage managers; W. F. Todd and Thomas Green, as electricians. Much of the success of the evening is due to the Department of Practical Arts, of which N. G. Deniston is the head. Mr. Deniston is one of the members of his class in manual training made the scenery that was used in all three plays.

It is indeed seldom that an organization is so fortunate in being able to make its selection of parts for such a talented membership as this club possesses and at the same time securing such literary vehicles in which the dramatic abilities of the player folk may be exploited. This is especially true of the cast which played "Maker of Dreams," by Olinphant Downs, each member of which showed that he or she possessed histrionic ability of exceptional quality. The opportunities were greater in this dramatic gem, because in a one-act play there is such a term as a dramatic gem. Realizing these opportunities and taking advantage of them, is one of the secrets of a successful player. With Fern Stone as Pierrette, all the charm and personal graces of the beautiful little French player found their home. The loveliness, the grace and the pathos portrayed by Miss Stone is seldom excelled in amateurs. Richard Chauncey, as Pierrot, the self-possessed individual, blind to the love of his dancing partner and thinking only of himself, forgetting Pierrette until the last, displayed ability of a decidedly favorable nature in enacting this role. In the Maker of Dreams, played by Raymond Rouse, the audience discovered a man who possessed a superior stage voice, a quality that is sought after by many but found by few. Mr. Rouse in this premier role, captivated the audience both with his lines and the manner in which he delivered them. There were those in the house who seemed to think that this play was decidedly the best thing of its kind that has ever been produced upon the chapel stage.

In Lady Gregory's comedy, "The Little Theatre Club of the Normal School, under the direction of Miss Miller, scored a decided success Monday night in its presentation of three one-act plays, "Embers," "Spreading the News," and "Maker of Dreams," in the Normal chapel. The plays were enacted before a well-packed house and the two fold object of the members was fully realized that of affording an evening of artistic entertainment and of starting a Student Loan Fund for the students of the school who may find it necessary to seek some little help to carry them thru the rough days of the time that they may wish to spend here in school.

"Spreading the News," the audience enjoyed the best of Irish comedy. Although loosely written, it is often true of the comedy of this type, the large cast for such a short play were placed at somewhat of a disadvantage in showing their best ability. However, with Sallie Gentry, who made such a success in the leading role of "Neighbors," last year, one could but expect that one would not be disappointed in any part or play in which this talented young woman might be placed. With the assistance of Verlinde Deatherage, as Mrs. Tarpey, a player of equal rank in her role, and Kerney Adams as Jack Smith, backed by such good people as Roy Proctor, Margaret Lane, Dolly Pickels, James Carr, Herbert Higgins, Dorland Cotes, Paul Rush and Bradley Combs, in their respective parts of Bartley Fallon, Mrs. Tully, the assistant clerk, James Ryan, Shawn Early, Tim Casey, a policeman, and the magistrate, this comedy was enacted in a pleasing style and met with the approval of a friendly but an exacting audience.

In Lady Gregory's comedy, "The Little Theatre Club of the Normal School, under the direction of Miss Miller, scored a decided success Monday night in its presentation of three one-act plays, "Embers," "Spreading the News," and "Maker of Dreams," in the Normal chapel. The plays were enacted before a well-packed house and the two fold object of the members was fully realized that of affording an evening of artistic entertainment and of starting a Student Loan Fund for the students of the school who may find it necessary to seek some little help to carry them thru the rough days of the time that they may wish to spend here in school.

Foster, are found among young people, who but seldom are given the chance of proving that after all one of the most deeply rooted of all our instincts is that of the dramatic. Lillian Harrod, as the maid, handicapped by the shortness of her lines, demonstrated the possession of a voice of strength and clearness that one might wish to hear more often in a longer role.

The students of the Normal School and their friends in the city, are fortunate in being given these opportunities of witnessing an evening of such entertainment and pleasure. During the past year the stage of the chapel has been completely remodeled, new lighting fixtures have been installed for the stage, and now with the addition of a complete set of scenery and beautiful settings, the Club is more able to give to its patrons and friends work of superior quality.

HARDING DELIVERS MESSAGE IN PERSON

President Tells Congress Arms
Conference May Be Gratifying
World Accomplishment

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Dec. 6.—President Harding informed Congress today in his first annual message "that a most gratifying world accomplishment by the Arms Conference is not improbable."

His message was delivered in person in the House chamber in the presence of delegates to the Conference and most of the diplomats regularly stationed here.

At the outset the President discussed world conditions, saying "a world restoration program has been worked out by the nations directly concerned." The United States will help, he added.

Turning to domestic problems he urged recommended early enactment of permanent and foreign debt refunding bills. He also announced later he would recommend further reductions in the tax bill program and abolition of "hindering burdens."

He also suggested a constitutional amendment to end non-taxable bonds.

With regard to the merchant marine, he said he had a plan, yet too crude to offer, yet which is promising. He said it contemplates no "greater draft on the treasury."

He suggested "proper encouragement" for a co-operative marketing program to assist agriculture and told Congress it should give earnest attention to the general policy of transportation, of disturbed industry, and highway construction to encourage spread of population.

His other recommendations touched on controversies between capital and labor, federal aid for reclaiming lands and a Congressional appropriation to supply Russia with 11,000,000 bushels of grain.

Splendid Cough Medicine

"As I feel that every family should know what a splendid medicine Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is, I am only too pleased to relate my experience and only wish that I had known of its merits years ago," writes Mrs. Clay Fry, Ferguson Station, Mo. "I give it to my children when they show the slightest symptoms of being croupy, and when I have a cough or cold on the lungs a very few doses will relieve me, and by taking it for a few days, I soon get rid of the cold."

Mr. and Mrs. P. P. McIntosh, of Winchester, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McIntosh, of Jackson Ferry.

Chamberlain's Tablets

These tablets are intended especially for indigestion and constipation. They tone up the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. They are gentle on the liver and bowels, thereby restoring the stomach and bowels to a healthy condition. When you feel dull, stupid and constipated, give them a trial. You are certain to be pleased with their effect.

PRESBYTERIAN REVIVAL ENJOYED BY FULL HOUSE

A splendid crowd was present Monday night to hear Dr. Vance, of Nashville, deliver the first of a series of evangelistic sermons at the First Presbyterian church this week. The big congregation was pleased with the way this man of God presented the old, old story, and his message was the talk of the town Tuesday morning. It seemed that everyone, regardless of church affiliation, was a booster for the revival.

After a tribute to this splendid man by Dr. Telford, the congregation eagerly grasped the words that fell from his lips from the beginning to the close of his discourse.

Dr. Vance took for his subject, "The Sinner's Lawyer." Throughout the sermon he had at his command every technical point of man's law as well as the law of God.

Dr. Vance is a big man, but there is no pretension in his manner. He is following in his Master's footsteps in meekness, and simplicity. His message Monday night was so simple that a little child could have interpreted every word, and the week promises to be a spiritual feast for both Christians and sinners, and results are sure to reward the efforts put forth by those in charge of the meeting.

The song service in charge of Mr. Watson, continues to be a big drawing card. The additional space made for the singers was filled Monday night, and more room will be provided during the week. It is the plan of Mr. Watson to have the "Sunbeam" choir, composed of over two hundred children, sing each afternoon and perhaps several evenings during the week. He has developed a wonderful chorus among the grownups as well, and with the assistance of Miss Davidson, Miss Bright, and other soloists, the musical program for the week will afford the big crowds a rare treat.

While the meeting is under the auspices of the First Presbyterian church, it is far from being exclusive. The ministers of the city together with their singers and members are enlisted in the big service, and it is believed by many that Richmond is going to be stirred through and through by the time this meeting comes to a close.

STEWARDSHIP RALLY AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The Christian churches of Richmond and the county are to have a very important all-day meeting Thursday in the form of the annual Stewardship rally. The team of out of town speakers will be headed by Robert M. Hopkins, of St. Louis, formerly head of National Bible School work of the Disciples of Christ and now Secretary of the United Christian Missionary Society. With Mr. Hopkins will be Miss Leila Taylor, of St. Louis, and J. E. Moody, of India.

The sessions will be held in the auditorium of the First Christian church just opened Sunday after being decorated. The sessions will be at 10:30, 2:00 and 7:00 o'clock. The coming of Mr. Hopkins to Richmond will delight his large circle of friends who knew him first as the state secretary of Bible School work in Kentucky, in which work he was unusually popular. He is widely traveled since the war, having had an opportunity to study conditions in four continents. He is chairman of the executive committee of the International Sunday School Association and will bring a thrilling message in these days when the church is girding for action in a great advance.

Miss Taylor is now a Secretary of the United Society, having been called to that position from the Deanship of the College of Missions at Indianapolis.

Mr. Moody for seven years, had been in Bilaspur, India, heading a church of 500 members in a population of one million.

The evening hour will be devoted to an illustrated lecture by Mr. Hopkins in which he will use the latest and most improved slides touching the questions of Stewardship and world conquest. The delegates from the county churches will be luncheon guests of the First Christian church.

FORCE TO REMAIN AT PRESENT SIZE

In its report of the first meeting of the new City Council the other day, the Daily Register inadvertently omitted mention of the fact that the new council re-elected Patrolman James Turner as a member of the local police force. The new City Fathers had at first decided to try to get along with three policemen instead of four, but Chief Claude Devore wrote them a letter about conditions in town and the necessity for maintaining the force at its present size, which after careful consideration, the councilmen approved. Mr. Turner was then re-elected as he had proven a diligent and capable officer and always on the job. He wishes to express his appreciation of the action of the council and assures it better service than ever from him, if it is possible. The letter from Chief Devore to the council, explaining the matter, reads as follows:

To the Honorable Mayor and Board of Council:
At your meeting last Saturday night you reduced the police force one man, giving me three deputies instead of four which I have had for the past two years. I would like to say in regard to this change that when Mr. Evans first went into office we tried handling the court affairs of the city with three deputies and found that as they were steadily on the increase that it was necessary for an additional man. At the present time I think I am perfectly safe in saying that we now have lawlessness in the city we have in hand and as the present force is well acquainted with this element I regret very much that the council has seen cause to reduce it, for I am almost certain that in the near future we will have to add an additional man to the force and by putting on an inexperienced man it will be several months before he is acquainted with this class of citizenship to render the council and citizens of Richmond good service in promoting the morals of the city.

I, therefore, respectfully request the council to reconsider the action of last Saturday night in regard to the police force and let me continue my fight against lawlessness in the city with my present force as I am sure it is as much to your advantage as mine that the police force make a creditable showing during your term of office. As I said when before you the other night that with the present force I do not think you will have any grounds for complaint as to service and at the same time the records will bear me out that the present force has always paid its own way. Hoping that this request will receive due consideration at your hands, I am,

CLAUDE DEVORE,
Chief of Police.

Approved—Chas. M. Martin, Pleas Benton, Jas. S. Crutcher, J. R. McKimney, Simeon Turpin, J. W. Hamilton, Councilmen.

ANOTHER 3-YEAR SENTENCE AT LONDON

In addition to the three-year sentence given Lou. Wilson at federal court at London, Rice Singleton, Radan, Ky., who was convicted of an indictment which charged him with having converted a package of money belonging to another to his own use was also given a three years.

The evidence disclosed that Singleton several weeks ago received by mistake from Chad Nolan, postmaster at Verda, Ky., a package containing $5,300 in currency. This was the payroll of the W. D. Bower Coal Company of Verda, and had been forwarded from a bank in Pineville, Singleton, the officers said, hid the money in holes in the mountain side near Verda and refused for eight days following his arrest to disclose where he had placed the money. He revealed the spot they said, only after he had exacted a promise from postmaster Nolan to pay the sum of $1,500 to an attorney whose name he mentioned. The testimony showed that this was done and the money was recovered. Proceedings against the attorney are to be instituted by the government, the officials said.

94 persons were convicted on various charges during the term of court last week. The majority of those convicted were on charges of having violated liquor laws.
